

Golla was honoured with the Company of the Year 2009 –award in Finland on November 9th. The jury emphasized that Golla has in a short time risen to a global brand, and that the future business prospects and growth potential of the company are excellent.

“The colourful bags of Golla move and sell well on the global markets of design, fashion, innovation and technology.”

The jury felt that Golla is an open-minded, new style successful company, which is something Finland needs right now. The competition is organized by the biggest financial newspaper in Finland, Kauppalehti, and the largest financial services group in Finland, OP-Pohjola Group. The award has been given since 2004.
